Custom Limestone Fireplace

Stonesculpt, 2007

This fireplace was custom carved for a private residence in Los Altos, CA. The design was based on a sketch created by interior designer Lila Levinson. All of the elements were hand carved from Portuguese limestone using chisels and a pneumatic air hammer. Originally, the client had a similar fireplace carved and imported from China. However, they were unsatisfied with the quality of the workmanship. Stonesculpt was then hired to make a high quality replacement.
